

1. Coco the Havanese: Florida

Princess of the house – yep, that’s me! A better life you could not guarantee. I’ve trained my owner Emily to let me snooze in her bed. She also cooks for me so I’m well-fed. I have a little bell to ring right by the door. For when I have business to do or want to explore. It’s a funny sight, one of my little joys. To see my humans jump up when they hear that noise! But my favorite is just being a silly pup. Like playing fetch with my favorite cup. It’s also lots of fun to bury my treats. What’s better than a surprise, yummy eats?!? My life is just the best. I am truly, truly blessed.

2. Oaklee the Goldendoodle: Louisiana

A luckier dog there could not be. My family takes the best care of me! I always go on walks with my owner Morgann who... I just know loves it as much as I do. Around the neighborhood I see the coolest stuff. New scents and sights – I can’t get enough! But when going to the groomer. Well, I lose my sense of humor. My eyelashes have been clipped off and I’ve been shaved like a possum. Let me tell you that was anything but awesome. I really can’t complain though – my misfortunes have been few. Sometimes it’s hard to stay beautiful – what’s a girl to do?!?

3. Patriot the horse: Iowa

When I was small, I took a bad fall. My broken leg caused quite a fright, and sadly it wasn’t fixed right. I’ve walked with a little limp since that day. But really, I’m okay. I have a home with Hannah, such a sweet little thing. She’s really taken me under her wing. She doesn’t mind my limp or that I can’t run fast. Together, we have such a blast. She gives me all the oats and honey a horse could eat. And fresh apples are a special treat. Plus I have a cozy spot in the barn to rest. There’s no doubt about it – my life is the best!

4. Tiger the Cat: Alabama

Being a cat is a wonderful thing. Life at my house is fit for a king. No chores to do – just sleep and eat. My days here just can’t be beat. I love when people pet me just to say ‘hello.’ At that, my owner Keira is a real pro. Because she pampers me and makes me purr, I like to also be there for her. After school behind her I lurk. To help her get through all that homework. On her books I lay for safekeeping. Well, you know, in between all my sleeping.

5. Tuck the Turtle: Washington

Known for my colorful red and green stripes, a Painted Turtle is my type. My owner Elyza is real sweet. She got me at the pet store down the street. I'm really quite a lucky dude. She always gives me fresh water and food. She also gets new rocks for my home, which I must say is a great place to roam. Sometimes, though, we're not such chums - like when she plays those noisy drums! I love her - so a lot I'll take. But oh how it makes my little head ache.

6. Pancakes the Bunny: Montana

In between long naps in the sun, my days are full of playtime and fun. My friend Kinsley is the sweetest girl around. A better owner I could not have found. Ever so gently does she brush my fur. It feels so nice I could almost purr. She also gives me good things to eat. Lettuce and carrots are my favorite treats. I sure do miss her when she's at school. But I know she's learning lots - so with me, it's cool!

7. Rover the Collie: North Carolina

I live with 2 cats and lots of squirrels outside. It's fun to chase them so they run and hide. My owner Elizabeth wants me to let them be. But I'll never really catch them - they're too fast for me. Better than that is our quiet time at night. As I protect her when she's tucked in tight. After all, we are the best of friends - I like to have a helping paw to lend.

8. Lizzy the Guinea Pig: Oregon

You might think I'm acting cheesy but being this guinea pig isn't so easy. I'd like more room to stretch and roam in this tiny place I call home. And on the wheel I once adored, I'm actually a little bored. Plus my friend Chelsea is often away, like when she's at piano practice learning to play. But when she's here, well my sadness does disappear. And she feeds me yummy grapes from her hand. Let me tell you, that's really grand! Sometimes she even lets me run around on the floor. But don't tell her mom because she might let out a roar!

9. Harley the Bearded Dragon: South Dakota

An iguana or a lizard I am not. Call me either and I'll get hot! My pal Ellie likes to set it straight, too. Leave it to her to tell you what's true. As for me, I like chillin' in my bed, makin' up little songs in my head. But my favorite is bath time in the big tub when Ellie gives me a rockin' little scrub. I must say my life is worth braggin'. It's great to be this little dragon.

10. Noodles the Hamster: Nevada

I was born at a store called Pampered Pets, but now my life is as good as it gets! When Skylar chose me it was the best day ever. Since then we've been Best Friends Forever. My home with her I couldn't love more - no more listening to the birds squawk and roar! Plus I don't have to share my wheel if I'm not in the mood. And there's always lots of fresh water and food. My happiness I just can't conceal. My life with Skylar is ideal!
